Date: 28th January, 2023

Location: Raikata Chandanpur Village, Karbi Anglong District, Assam

Organized by: Nazir Ajmal Memorial College of Education (NAMCE)

Participants: 188 B.Ed. 1st and 2nd Year Students

Introduction: Nazir Ajmal Memorial College of Education (NAMCE), as part of its commitment to community service and social responsibility, organized a Blanket Distribution Program called "Wall of Warmth" in Raikata Chandanpur Village, Karbi Anglong District, Assam. This initiative aimed to provide warmth and comfort to the underprivileged residents of the village during the cold winter months. A total of 188 B.Ed. 1st and 2nd year students actively participated in this program.

Objectives:

1. To distribute blankets to needy individuals and families in Raikata Chandanpur Village.
2. To raise awareness about the importance of community service and social responsibility among students.
3. To strengthen the bond between the college and the adopted village.

Activities:

Preparation: The event was meticulously planned by the organizing committee. Blankets were procured through fundraising efforts, and transportation logistics were arranged in advance.

Distribution: On the scheduled day, the 100 students divided themselves into teams, each responsible for a specific area of the village. They set out early in the morning, carrying blankets to distribute to identified families in need.

Interaction: Apart from distributing blankets, the students engaged in conversations with the villagers, learning about their living conditions, challenges, and aspirations. This interaction fostered a sense of empathy and understanding among the students.

Community Engagement: A brief awareness session was conducted, highlighting the significance of community involvement and social responsibility. This aimed to encourage villagers to actively participate in the development of their community.

Feedback and Documentation: After the distribution, students collected feedback from the recipients and documented their experiences through photographs.

Challenges Faced:

Adverse Weather: The cold weather posed a challenge, but the determination of the students kept them motivated.

Limited Resources: Despite fundraising efforts, resources were limited, which necessitated careful planning to ensure the widest possible coverage.

Outcomes:

Beneficiaries: Blankets were distributed to over 200 families in RaikataChandanpur Village, providing warmth and relief during the harsh winter.

Awareness: The program successfully raised awareness about the importance of community service, social responsibility, and the college's commitment to its adopted village.

Student Learning: Participating students gained valuable insights into the challenges faced by underprivileged communities and developed a deeper sense of empathy and responsibility.

Community Engagement: The villagers expressed their gratitude for the assistance and engaged in discussions about potential future collaborations with the college.

Conclusion: The "Wall of Warmth" Blanket Distribution Program organized by Nazir Ajmal Memorial College of Education in RaikataChandanpur Village, Assam, was a resounding success. It not only provided much-needed warmth to the villagers during the winter but also strengthened the bond between the college and the adopted village. The program serves as a testament to the college's commitment to social responsibility and community development.

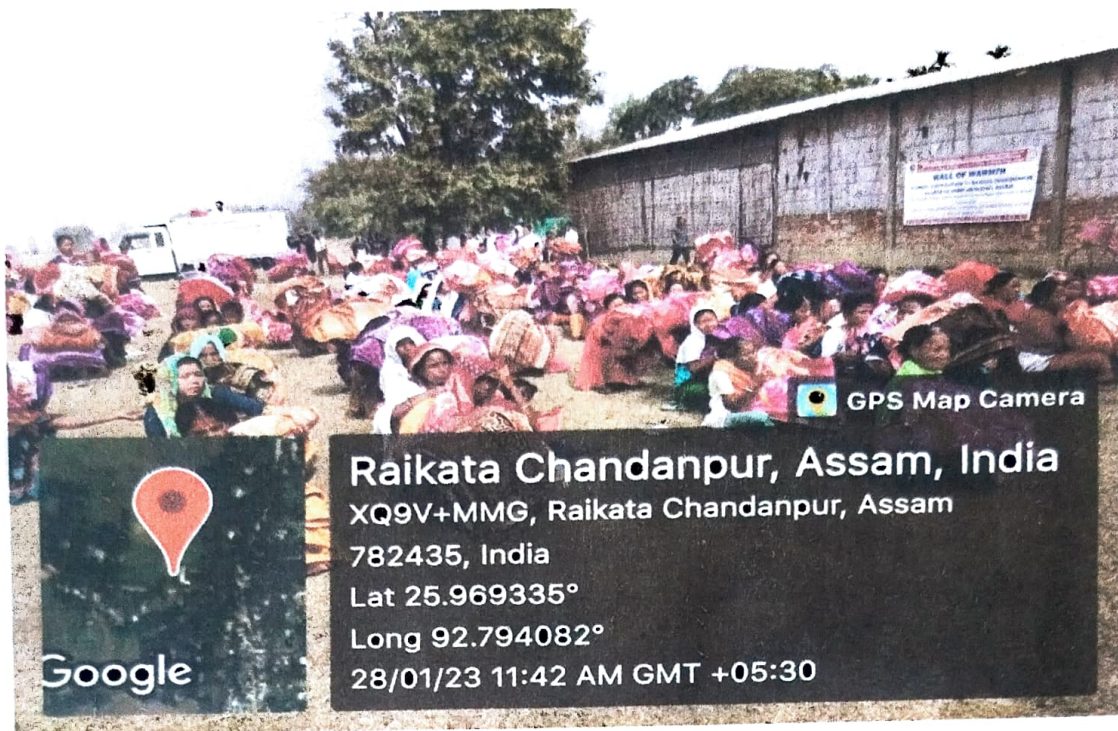

This initiative not only benefited the villagers but also served as a valuable learning experience for the participating students, who are now better equipped to contribute positively to society. Such endeavors are vital for fostering a sense of responsibility and empathy among the younger generation and building stronger, more connected communities.
